++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain, sleet and snow moving southwestwards at first. Icy conditions.

This Evening and Tonight:
Outbreaks of rain and sleet initially this evening, before turning to snow in places during the first half of the night. Some accumulations likely, mainly on hills. Sleet and snow clearing southwestwards by the early hours. Icy conditions. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Sunday:
Cold with a brisk northeasterly wind, which will bring some scattered sleet and snow showers off the North Sea during the day. Accumulations mainly on the hills. Some brighter interludes. Maximum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Scattered snow showers with further snow accumulations likely, especially Monday, and icy stretches. Despite sunshine in-between the showers it remains bitterly cold, with often brisk winds and severe overnight frosts.
